A young woman with a large dog hunting among the leaves, finally picks up something to deposit in a plastic bag.

Did she actually uncover it, or attempt to convince me thus?

Is it poopy, then, or phantom poopy?
Scoff if you must, but it just might be the controlling question of our era.